At the end of last week, researchers had spotted seven birds and placed a transmitter on one of them.

It will be the first major award show to emanate from the borough of Brooklyn.